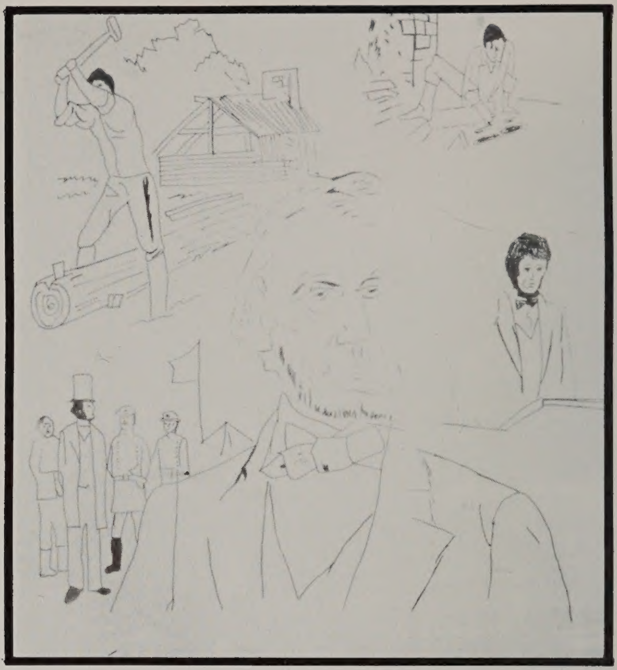
Landmarks commemorating the history of the nation are everywhere, and with the nation's 200th birthday quickly approaching, these sites have come alive with action.

Garrett County, even though a secluded rural area, offers various historical points of interest. These landmarks are framed in a colorful setting provided by the area.

Among these sites are The Casselman Hotel and the Stone House (Tomlinson's Inn), both formerly serving weary travelers of the National Road (now Route 40).



Aiding the travelers' passage was the Casselman Bridge, once the longest single-span bridge in the nation. Another site along the National Road is the LaVale Toll Gate House. Perhaps this 1836 structure was more of a hindrance than a help. Congress designated that each state was the owner of its part of the road. Maryland then made the formerly free road into a toll road and collected $9,745.90 in its first year. This collection continued until 1878 when Allegany County assumed ownership.

Other historical locations in surrounding areas include Fort Necessity, the site of the battle that sparked the French and Indian War. It was in this battle that Braddock, a British General, was killed. In an attempt to deceive the enemy the British buried Braddock under the Nemacolin Trail. Later the site of his grave was moved. There is now a monument standing in his honor.

There were many travelers and traders passing through Garrett County, but some, captivated by the county's uniqueness, decided to settle in the area. Many old building's are still standing, but the oldest of these is the Drane House, located in Accident.

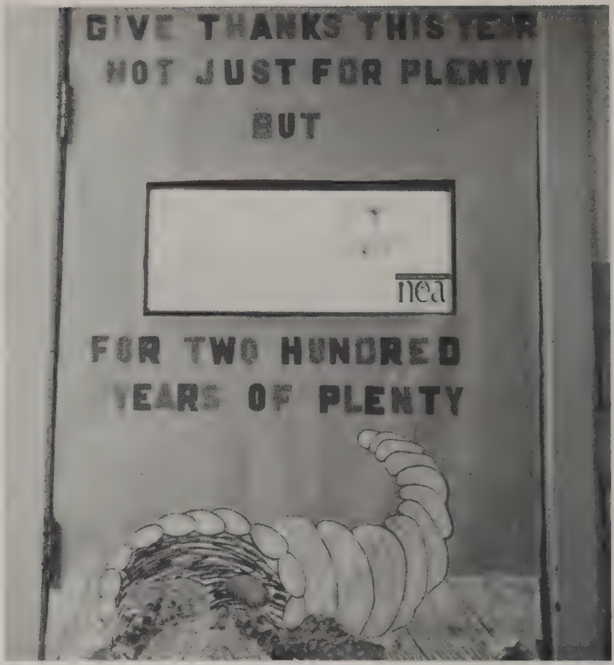
Not only can evidence of the Bicentennial be seen through national landmarks in and around Garrett County, but also right here at Northern High School. The spirit of the Bicentennial has influenced the actions of everyone here at Northern. Naturally, the Bicentennial holds a special meaning for the Seniors. This year, the nation's Bicentennial, is our year, as the Class of '76.

AMERICAN REVOLUTION BICENTENNIAL
1776-1976

The spirit of the Bicentennial has also been captured by Mrs. Yunker's classroom. Pictures of well remembered events have been painted on her window blinds, and her lamp shades have taken on the nation's colors of red, white, and blue.



GIVE THANKS THIS YEAR
NOT JUST FOR PLENTY BUT
nea
FOR TWO HUNDRED YEARS OF PLENTY

The annual rivaly between Northern and Southern is reconstructed as the Civil War. For the entire week the North is out to get the South. We officially declare war on the South, hold contest between grade levels, and conclude the week with the actual "fighting" of the war at the basketball game.

The Bicentennial holds something for everyone, no matter who he is or where he lives. It is evident that Garrett County and Northern High School, although just a small part of this great nation, have much to offer towards the celebration of our Bicentennial!

Class History

Our's was the age of the moon and the atom as well as our nation's 200th birthday. While great scientific breakthroughs were made in our world, we, as teens, found ourselves more concerned with fads and the "In" look.

We saw man take his first steps on the moon with a feeling of wonder and amazement. We took our steps here on earth in tennis shoes, platforms, ugly shoes, earth shoes, yuccas, and krazy sox. Quite a step.

As sophomores, we explored the new world of senior high school. We elected Linda Wengerd as our first class president, Mike O'Brien, vice president, Tammy Humberson as secretary, and Sharon Broadwater as our class treasurer. Our class struggled with "Rex", but we successfully raised enough money to host the Jr.-Sr. Prom in our Junior year. Tenth grade rolled by quickly.

Class rings, the prom, and streaking are memories of our Junior year. Although 1974 was the year of the disaster in movies and government, our class didn't follow suit; we re-elected Linda as our class president. Tammy Humberson was chosen vice-president, Lois Bittinger was chosen secretary, and Glen Kolb was selected treasurer. "Stairway to Heaven" served as the theme for the Jr.-Sr. Prom which our class presented to the seniors of the Class of '75. During the evening, members of our class presented deserving seniors "awards" for their respective contributions to our happiness at Northern. Receiving awards for our class were Jeanne Carstens and Johnnie Smith--winners of the WOW History Award. Stanley Schlosnagle was chosen from our class to attend a Science Symposium in Baltimore. June 1 was the turning point. The Class of '75 graduated and we were Seniors.

The summer between that day and the first day of our senior year was eventful for many of our classmen. Several Northerners, including Tammy Humberson, Linda Wengerd, and Lois Bittenger were on the girls' softball team coached by Dave Bender. Brad Livengood, Mike O'Brien, Dave Bender, Bill Thomas, Johnnie Smith, and Stan Schlosnagle spent a week of their summer vacation at Boys' State. Dave also was one of three Marylanders to attend Canadian Boys' State. In an effort to improve themselves, several seniors traveled to summer school. Jeanne Carstens attended a NSF workshop in Sound and Acoustical Phenomena at Ball State in Indiana. Spending most of July in Buckannon, WV, Stan Schlosnagle investigated many aspects of science at another NFS institute. Chip Schwing earned six college credits at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn. The six weeks he was there he studied a "crash course" in Economics. After returning, Chip spent a week at a journalism workshop sponsored by WVU. Many other seniors attended various camps and workshpos.

We're seniors--in the time of our life that we've heard is the greatest time of our lives. Now we're in their shoes. Once again our class is under the leadership of Linda Wengerd. We voted Tammy Humberson, vice-president; Orpha Schrock, secretary; and Lisa Robeson, treasurer. We also elected Sharon Broadwater and Millie Workman as historian and parliamentarian, respectively.

In the year before the nation's Bicentennial celebration, members of our class participated in many festivities. Sue Uphold reigned over the Autumn Glory Festival in October. Her escort was Tom Glotfelty. Sharon Broadwater, escorted by Joe Landon, served as Senior Princess from Northern. Linda Wengerd, escorted by Jeff Georg, was crowned 1975 Homecoming Queen, at the half-time of the Northern-BW game. Linda's court consisted of Tammy Humberson, Kim Bowers, Sally Beachy, and Sue Uphold, Winterfest exhibited the talents of many Seniors who participated in ski races and other competition.

Joining us in our senior year were Donna Ross, Judy Yoder, and Arlie Rounds, juniors who took advantage of the early graduation program.

Jeanne Carstens was chosen to represent Garnett County as student page at the State House.

Our Class could dance, too. The Soul Step. The Bump. The Robot. The Hustle. ALL styles of dance were popular. The popular "mood" rings shone a deep violet for total bliss on the evening of our Senior Party. Choosing "I Keep Holden' on to Yesterday" as our theme, our class "got it on" to the sound of White Rose Band. The cafeteria was decorated in our class colors of blue and silver. Of course, most of the classmen were dressed in blue jeans--they never seem to loose popularity.

Certainly outlasting the short-lived World Football League, our sports enthused fellow classmen included two three lettermen--Dave Bender and Ken Sines. Linda Wengerd, captain of the girls' basketball team, as well as high scorer for the girls, reflected the fact that 1975 was International Women's Year. Receiving Honorable Mention on the Tri-Valley Conference All Star Team in their senior year were Bruce Opel, Kenny Sines, Dave Bender, and Bill Thomas.

Also gaining nation-wide attention were journalists who used their freedom of the press: the Pentagon Papers, Jack Anderson, and Les Whittner were among those journalistic news catalysts. Locally, Jeanne Carstens and Chip Schwing were at the helm of our school newspaper, THE VIKING, while editor of the NORTH STAR yearbook was Terri Georg. Stanley Schlosnagle used his writing talents and won first place in the American Legion Oratorical Contest in his junior year.

Music, the universal language, was enjoyed by practically all classmen. We listened to records by Elton John, B.T.O., Chicago, Olivia Newton-John, The Eagles, The Doobie Brothers, Linda Ronstat, Yes, The Who, The Captain and Tennille, Deep Purple, The Bee Gees, The Ohio Players, KC & The Sunshine Band, Alice Cooper, David Bowie, Grand Funk, War, Wings, Jefferson Starship, Barry Manalow, The Sweet, Kiss, John Denver, Bad Company, The Spinners, Melissa Manchester, Average White Band, Fanny, Ozark Mt. Daredevils, Queen and Abba and hundreds of others. There were many "come backs" like the Beach Boys, Neil Sedaka, and Frankie Vallee. In our world of music, the bands and choruses provided melodic selections for the public. Dave Davis headed the Senior Band as both drum major and president of the band council. Chip Schwing was vice-president and Steve Morris represented the Senior Class on the council. In her junior year, Lisa Robeson was chosen from Northern to participate in Maryland's All State Chorus at Baltimore. Lisa, vice-president of the Senior Chorus, was an officer along with two other Seniors--Linda Wengerd, president, and Lana Brenneman, secretary. Lois Bittinger, 1975 head majorette, with Marla Finzel represented our class as Senior majorettes. Also from our class, Brenda Garlitz was chosen to be a member of the color guard which added a Garrett County flag to its line.

Whipping up the "Spirit of '76", Tammy Humberson captained the cheerleading squad, assisted by Kim Bowers. Other spirit-raisers from our class were the drill team members: Captain Liz Yoder, Kim Feree, Melva Rinker, and Sharon Broadwater.

Several "'76ers" participated in student government during our last three years at Northern. Tammy Humberson was delegate to the Student Faculty Senate in our sophomore year, Glen Kolb in our junior year, and Johnnie Smith in our last year. Glen Kolb became president of the Senate in his senior year, and Kay Durst served as secretary and Lois Bittinger as treasurer.

As we stand on the doorstep of adulthood, we wonder what new joys and sorrows will be spread before us. Only we will decide, for we are the leaders of tomorrow. Quite a Step.

Class Prayer

by Jeanne Carstens

Dear God,

The years pass quickly, and suddenly the future is upon us. It is the future of our dreams, our fears, our uncertainties. It is within our grasp, yet untouchable and unknown.

Now, as the future approaches quickly, we fear the loss of friends, of a part of our lives, and we yearn for the past. Yet our fears are groundless, because in You is the safeguard of our future.

The past has seen mistakes, hurt, and sorrow, but You brought us through them safely. Your hand guided us through the turmoil and on to better things.

Now may Your loving hand continue to guide us safely into the future. You know what is best for each of us, though we ourselves may not know. We trust Your judgment and look with anticipation to a fulfilling future.

Amen

Tasks of the yearbook surround Jill VanSickle as she sorts pictures.

Among the designs available to students is the popular ring with a monogram.

The importance of "Ring Day" is not fully understood till one becomes a Junior. Wearing a class ring gives one an identity parallel to the school he is attending. This wait from ordering time till the arrival of the rings seems unending. Then on that great day they at last arrive. The ring often is used as a sign of going steady. Whether used in this manner or not, it will be something to remember the Junior year by!

The Ring Thing Dominates The Minds Of The Junior Class

Becky DeWitt, Dee Speicher, Kathy Benedict, Brenda Butler and Jim Tortorice eagerly wait in line to receive their rings.

Carolyn Devine and Dave Blake examine the difference in their class rings.

1976 finds the class of '78 in our sophomore year. We're at that mid-point where we're looked up to by the Jr. High but still looked down upon by the rest of the Sr. High. Even though we're now a part of Sr. High, we seem to have come a year late. Various assemblies this year are limited to Jrs. and Srs. Jrs. have their class rings and both Jrs. and Srs. attend the prom. But here we are--not old enough for these things, but too old for Jr. High activities.

We may be stuck in the middle--but we do have our advantages. "On-the-road" driving is one of the highlights. Even though Mr. Sines tries to act mean and nasty, he's really an old softie deep down inside. Driving can be quite an experience with him by your side!

World History includes the study of everything from Java Man to John Glenn. And last, but not least, there's Biology. The biggest thrill of the year is dissecting a frog. Imagine the horror of opening the little fellow's mouth to discover someone has ripped off his tongue. The sophomore year is an interesting year, if not especially eventful!

To be a ninth grader is to be in a time of new growth. For the first time in our school years, we have been given the opportunity to choose elective courses--and we make decisions about our futures. All of us find ourselves sitting in Civics classes from day to day, but some of us experience other worlds, too, in French classes. We earn our first credits toward that important piece of paper--the diploma. Our class ranks are enlarged by the arrival of new classmates from Yoder and Route 40 schools. We learn to make our new privileges work for us in profitable ways. Ninth grade is a new experience in which we become more comfortable in the school environment.

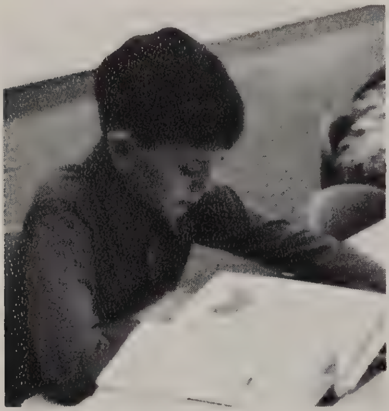
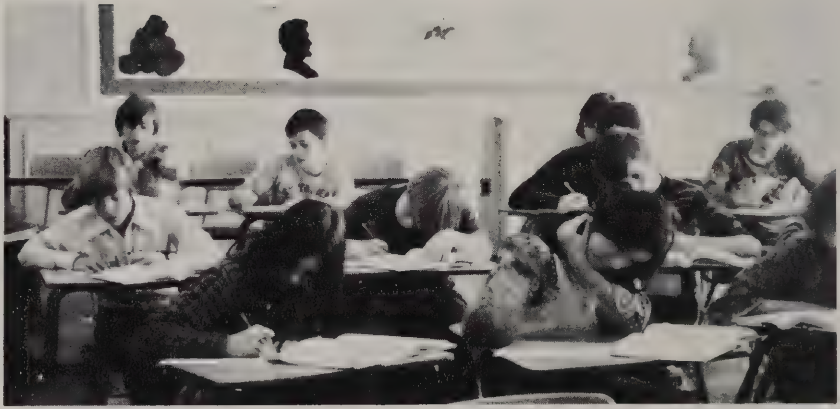
Dick Bender, with the aid of Steve Fratz, uses a micrometer while measuring the thickness of a hair in 7th grade math class.

Everyone remembers 7th grade geography class, one's first attempt at a high school social studies class. Cecil Rounds can't decide whether he enjoys geography class, or finds it an intolerable task.





High school is a big change from elementary school. The atmosphere of the school, the practice of changing classes, and the manner in which the classes are conducted sometimes overwhelm 7th graders.

The F.F.A. here at Northern has expanded its programs into new areas. F.F.A. members now enter competition with other groups and with other members of the club. John Menges, 7th grade student, is selected as the winner of the corn contest which was organized by Dean Georg and Martin Carr.

ACTIVITIES

HOMECOMING
OCT 17

A popular event, Homecoming, is forcast by a poster in our hall.

Linda Wengerd and Sue Uphold Reign over Fall Festivals

Linda Wengerd, escorted by Jeff Georg, is Homecoming Queen.

A half time highlight of homecoming was the performance of the Senior Band.

Homecoming had a special meaning to Linda Wengerd this year as she was crowned Homecoming Queen. The crowning took place at halftime during a Northern football game with Bishop Walsh. Despite high hopes and sentiments, the game was lost.

The Autumn Glory Parade is very special this year as Sue Uphold, an N.H.S. senior, is Queen.

Sue Uphold, escorted by Tom Glotfelty

Sharon Broadwater, escorted by Joe Landon

The Autumn Glory Festival, held every October for the past seven years, once again draws tourists and participants from all over Maryland and surrounding states. With Garrett County's beautiful fall colors as a background, the many activities of Autumn Glory get under way with the coronation of the queen, Sue Uphold, at the annual Turkey Bowl game. The queen, Sue Uphold, is escorted by Tom Glotfelty, also a senior here at Northern. Other members of Sue's court from Northern were Sharon Broadwater, escorted by Joe Landon, Donna Jo Swauger, escorted by Tony Artice, and Susan Carey escorted by Doug Ringer.

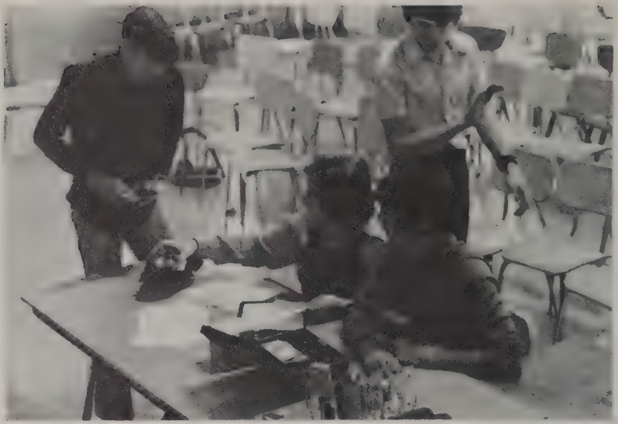
The yearbook auction almost over, some persistant students continue to bid.



Members of the yearbook staff engage in a little by-play following a successful auction.

Staff Activities Not Limited to Journalism

For the past several years one of the major fund-raising activities of the yearbook staff has been our auction. The success of the auction depends on the articles donated by the student body and members of the faculty. Almost anything imaginable is sold at our auction--ranging from baked goods to puppies. The money raised from this auction is used to cover added expenses of special effects in the yearbook, such as color pages.

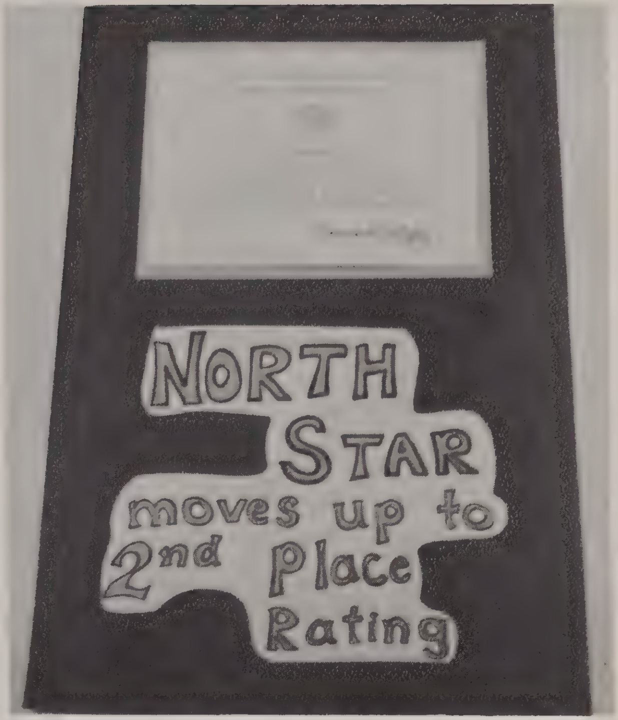
Auctioneers Raymond Bender and Kermit Yoder scan the crowd for bids from students.

Happiness is a soft puppy.

Members of the yearbook staff participate in an instructional period given by their adviser, Miss Miller.

The NORTH STAR staff begins its year with a period of instruction and an ensuing test. After the completion of the supplement, work commences on the 1976 NORTH STAR.

Identification of pictures is done by Wendy and Wesley Bender.



NORTH STAR moves up to 2nd Place Rating

Hard work by the NORTH STAR staff earns it a 2nd place rating in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Becky DeWitt posts a sign announcing the sale of yearbook subscriptions.

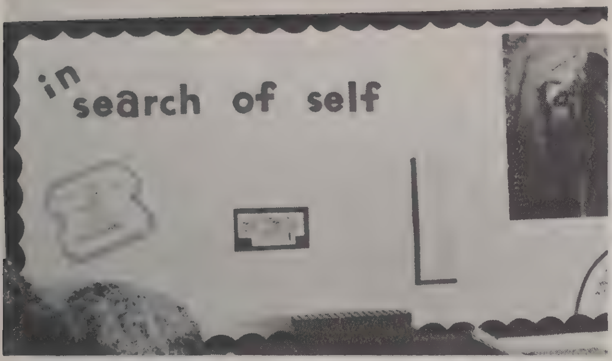
George Hanna kicks off the magazine campaign by explaining the prizes students can earn.

Students "Experience" Finances Through Various Activities

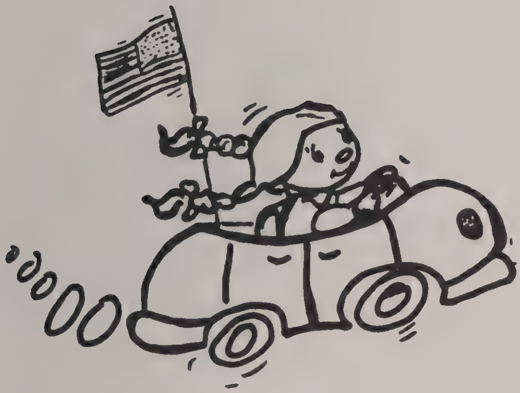
Seniors have an assembly at which the ordering of announcements is explained.

Students anxiously wait to order their class rings.

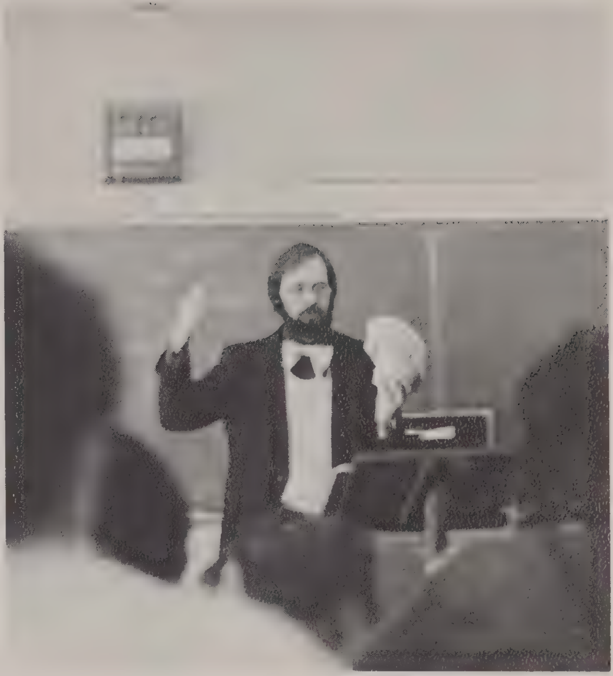
Student Leaders of the Magazine Campaign are Linda Wengerd and Valerie Loughrie.



A bulletin board signifying the Mini-Course, "Man Against Himself," is displayed in Mrs. Miller's room.



Tfc. Carl D. Skidmore demonstrates to the Sophomore Driver Ed. class the instrument used to determine alcohol content of the blood known as the Breath-a-lyzer.

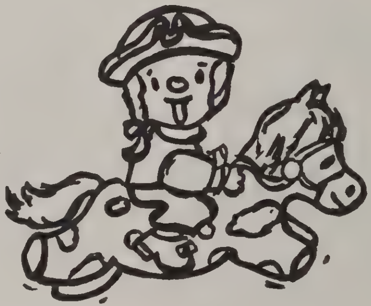


The Psychology class learns about the brain as Mr. Weese displays a model and explains the functions of the various parts of the brain.

The French Clubs undertake the project of selling candy bars in order to raise money for a trip to Canada.

Wanda House tries her hand at teaching during playschool, a project of Home Economics classes.

U.S. History students demonstrate the women's "flappen" style of the 20's.



Classrooms Provide Varied Learning Activities

Building Trades students smooth the concrete of the baseball dugouts.

Students from Dennett Road grade school stayed at Camp Hickory and walked to N.H.S. for their lunches.

Becky Stanton starts the speedball game with the opening kick-off.

6'5" freshman Anthony Doerr has no trouble successfully spiking the volleyball against Bradley DeWitt.

The enjoyment and reward that results from athletic competition is not limited to those who compete in varsity sports alone. The physical education classes hold intramural tournaments in a number of sports. The girl's P.E. classes compete in basketball, modern dance, speedball, volleyball, and gymnastics, while the boy's classes compete in basketball, football, volleyball, wrestling, and softball.

Girls in P.E. class have a chance to learn the art and discipline involved in modern dancing.

Keith Beachy puts forth that extra effort that puts him in control of the jump ball.

Mike Yoder and Kenny Failinger, members of the Strings II class, practice diligently.

Members of the Brass Quintet perform again this year for the students involved in some phase of music education here at Northern.

Cultural Growth Comes by Observation and Participation

During the school year of 1974-1975 the first strings class was initiated into the curriculum here at Northern. At that time a handful of brave students enrolled in the class. In the two short years of its existance the interest in this class has grown tremendously. Performances presented by the Brass Quintet and the Faculty Strings Quartet of W.V.U. expose students to the many phases of music.

Faculty members of the West Virginia University perform for all the music students here at Northern.

After a performance for all music students, the members of the Strings Quartet of W.V.U. turn their attention to individual instruction of the strings classes.

Rodger Tibezii portrays various important characters of American history.

Programs, plays, and Antrim Bureau shows of various topics have been presented to the student body this year. These programs range from the art and beauty of the ballet to the training and athletic quality of body dynamics and acrobatics.

The play "Taming of the Shrew" is presented to Sr. High students by a theatre group sponsored by RCEDA.

Physical dynamics, the training of one's body, is presented to the student body in an interesting manner during an Antrim Bureau Show.

Ballet group, Pointe on Strings, performs for the members of the Junior and Senior classes.

Everybody in Horticulture Class gets into the act of mixing soil to prepare for planting poinsettias.

President, Quay Yendall, and Vice-President, Dan Tice, both of the Maryland FFA, speak to members of the North Garrett Chapter with advice for even greater success.

Schedule of "Twin" Chapters of FFA Is Filled with Many Activities

The two chapters of the F.F.A. here at Northern, Jr. North Garrett and North Garrett, are the only such organizations in the state of Maryland to be under the leadership of one advisor. Mr. Loughrie, advisor of these two chapters is rewarded for his hard work when he is named Maryland State Vo-Ag Teacher of the Year.

Rex Schmidt helps load oranges in the midst of the annual FFA Christmas fruit sale.

Mr. Loughrie, advisor, and Dorsey Guard, chapter president, prepare to board the motor home that will transport them to Kansas City for the National FFA convention.

The float constructed by the F.F.A. is representative of American Spirit found here at Northern. The float is entered in both the Garrett County Fair Parade and the Autumn Glory Parade.

The F.F.A. continues their heavy schedule of events. Field trips, demonstrations, and participation in parades are just a few of the activities. Club meetings held during regular club periods include a visit by two state F.F.A. officers and plans for a visit by the Eastern Regional Vice-President of the National F.F.A. organization.

"200 Years of Daily Bread" is the theme of the F.F.A. float.

Members of the F.F.A. Chapters at Northern are captivated by the many events occurring at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. One of the events catching the eye of the F.F.A. members is the judging of baby beef.

Members of Jr. F.F.A are taught the basic techniques of good horsemanship by Tammy Hunter and Glenda Yoder.

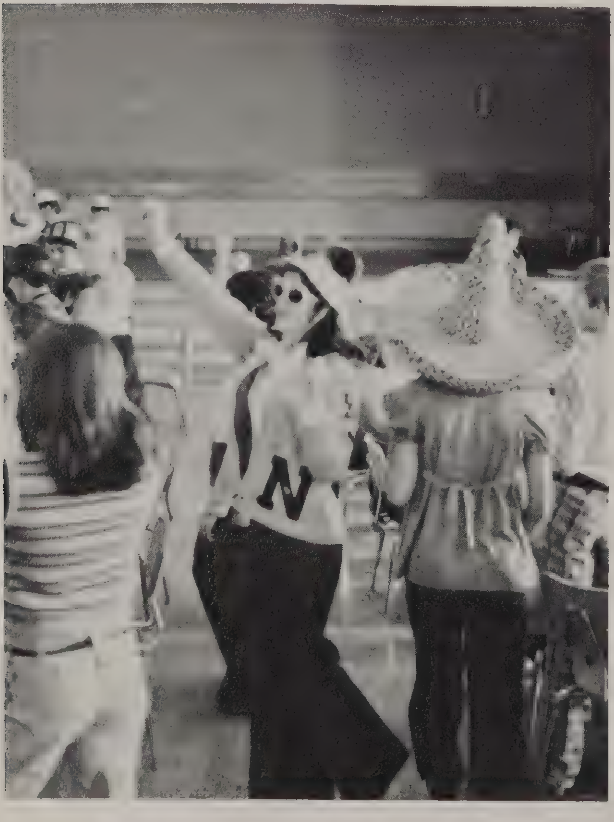
Chip Schwing, looking quite like Abe Lincoln, is held up by Patty Edgar.

The game of computer basketball is played by bionic people of the North and South.

Civil War Returns To N.H.S.

Civil War Week is filled with activities for students. There is an assembly for the viewing of some hilarious skits. Everything is geared for the showing of school spirit. The North is the hero of the week in the Girls' Basketball game, but the South takes the boys' game.

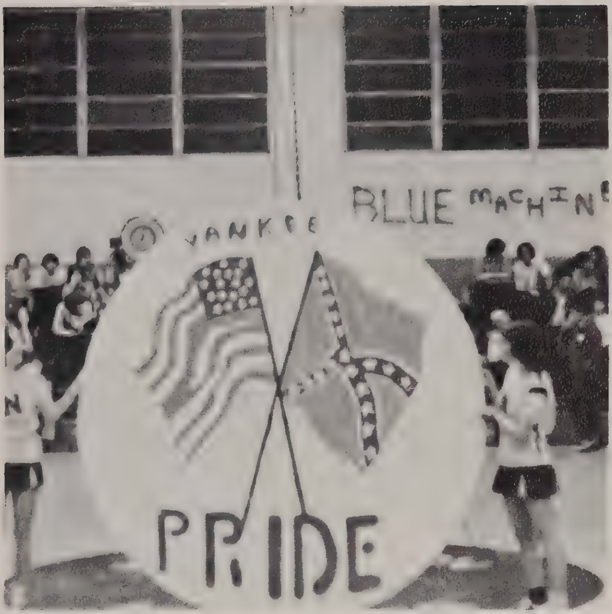
Students at lunch shifts proudly sing the Northern fight song.



Edith Ann tells herself a very funny bedtime story. This skit, along with computer basketball, ties for first place.

The referee shows two as Dave Bender takes one of his free-throws.

School spirit is evident in an exciting game with Southern. Northern fans truly hope for a revenge against the mighty Rams from the South. Who knows who the brave Yank is who tried to tear down the rebel flag, and who is that masked marvel who did battle with the rebel flag with only a broom?



There is Yankee Pride everywhere as Cindy Greco and Kim Bowers display the hoop before the game.

In the J.V. game, Tim Miller puts up a foul shot as Doug Ringer hopefully looks on.

FLY High Tweety

The Northern High School Marching Band performs in the Autumn Glory Parade.

As in other years, the Northern Band plays in front of the school on Veterans Day; however, this time they aren't lost in a cloud of snow.

This year, as in the past year, the Northern High Band performed in many activities throughout the year. The highlights of the year were the Maryland and West Virginia University Band Days, and the trip to the Halloween Parade in Hagerstown.

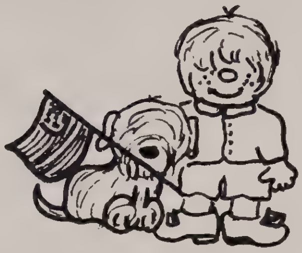
Northern High School Marching Band Remains Active Throughout the Year

The band prepares to play for Veterans Day.

Wearing their new Yankee Pride T-shirts designed and printed by David Schwing and Barry Glotfelty, the Pep Band plays for the basketball game.

Kim Gillum helps add to the bass in the traditional band favorite, "A Christmas Festival," a medley of well-known tunes.

Upon cue from Mr. Schwing, the band prepares to present its musical selections from the instrumental portion of the Christmas program.



The melody is brought by the trumpet section in the presentation of Christmas songs from other lands.

The drummers prepare to start the final song as they help the band wish the audience a merry little Christmas.

The Senior Chorus presents their Christmas program as the Junior Chorus awaits their chance to accompany them in singing "Carol of the Bells."

Halls Of Northern Sing Out With Christmas Spirit

This year, more than ever before, the Christmas spirit is felt almost everywhere in the halls of Northern High School. Not only do the music students get involved in the celebration of Christmas, but so does everyone, faculty and students alike, with the caroling, the door decorating contest, the Christmas dance, and the decoration of the main lobby.

Other students join members of the chorus in caroling through the halls before school is dismissed for the Christmas vacation.

Students with classes in the Annex are not left "out in the cold." The carolers stand in the snow as they spread Christmas warmth.

Lana Brenneman, Janice Riggs, and Larry Sisler, members of the strings class, seem to have found something amusing on Mr. Bernassoli's desk.

The senior chorus presents the spirit of Christmas through song.

Santa Claus arrives to greet happy children in this delightful poster.

Mrs. Welch's door becomes part of a three-way tie for second place in the door decoration contest.

Signs of Christmas Fill Husky Halls

Danny Beiler does his part as the French I students sing Christmas carols.

French III students are treated to some French Christmas foods.

The lay-out of a poster is arranged by Patty Fauber.

Christmas spirit is abounding at Northern. Many crayons, markers, and paints are put to use, as well as glitter, foil, and colorful paper brightening the halls, as the door decorating contest is under way. The lobby is decorated with a Christmas tree, and the windows are painted by Sr. High art classes in a stained-glass pattern. French classes join in the festivities by learning French Christmas carols and cooking French Christmas foods. A group of students sing carols in the halls to enrich everyone's spirit before going "Home for the Holidays."

JOY TO THE WORLD

Several creative doors are not lucky enough to win, but give enjoyment to students. First place goes to the Needlecraft class, who crocheted the snowflakes for their Snoopy poster.

Miss Liz Hinebaugh is student teacher in English under Mrs. Beachy.

Foreign exchange students to Northern High are Moniques Bustos from South America, Emmanuel Bautista from the Phillipines, Mary Jorge Garcia from Spain, and Luigi Ferracella from Italy.

Several new student and teacher faces are seen in the halls and classrooms. Student teachers come to test their skills and to gain experience in teaching. Most of them agree that Northern is a friendly atmosphere in which to teach. Northern's newly-formed AFS, under the direction of Mrs. Buser, brings several foreign exchange students; among those not shown are Laurin Norwood and Thalia Siozopoulou. Linda Wengerd and Mary Wheeler are chosen to participate in a domestic exchange program and spend one week living in New Jersey.

Mr. Whiteford, who speaks quickly and carries a small stick, is student teacher in American History under Mrs. Yunker.

Carol Barringer does his student teaching in P.O.D. and Psychology with cooperating teachers, Mr. Yunker and Mr. Weese.

The Lighter Side Of School Life

School is not all pencils and books. Students often have time to relax and reflect. If free moments are not used in this respect, time is utilized in other fashions. Friendships are established; skills such as card playing and paper shooting are developed; competitive sports such as "I can skip more classes than you" contests and racing to and from lunch are constantly underway; and just general insanity is exhibited. School is not the hum-drum grinding routine that it sometimes seems to be. It is often a fast-moving madness that gives us a brighter outlook.

Dave Bender narrowly escapes being hit by an inside pitch.

Keith Miller watches helplessly as a grounder rolls between his feet.

Although the baseball team has an outstanding season, the student body tends to neglect the support the Huskies need. Because baseball season comes at the end of the year spirit is low. This fact doesn't seem to bother the team, however, as the Huskies go on to a season record of 10-5.

The opposing catcher grasps empty air as Ken Sines makes contact with the ball.

Students Honored At Annual Awards Assembly

Tammy Humberson is awarded a scholarship from the March of Dimes.

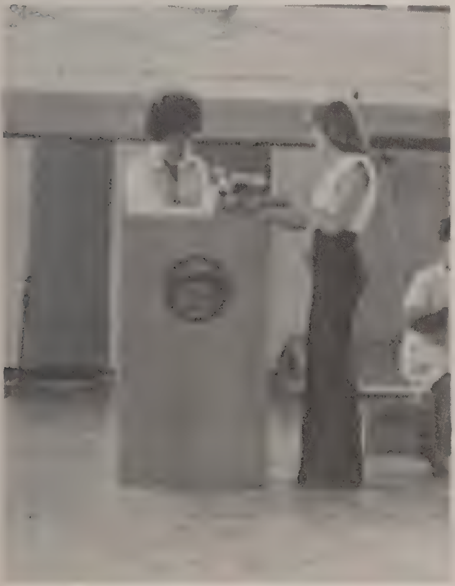
Todd Stockslager proudly accepts his football letter.

Mr. Speicher presents a varsity wrestling letter to Sophomore Kurt Lear.

Mr. Dale Rodeheaver of the Garrett National Bank surprises Terri Georg with a scholarship.

Students were commended at the 1976 Awards Assembly held May 26 for achievements in many areas such as business education, home economics, physical education, cheerleading, journalism, history, music, athletics, and academics. Special academic recognition was given to the top ten percent of the '76 graduating class.

Teresa Hinebaugh receives her cheerleading letter from advisor Mrs. Robinson.



The master of ceremonies at the awards assembly was Kendra Fratz, Vice President of the Student Faculty Senate.

Mr. Bittinger and his wife were the honored guests at the head table.

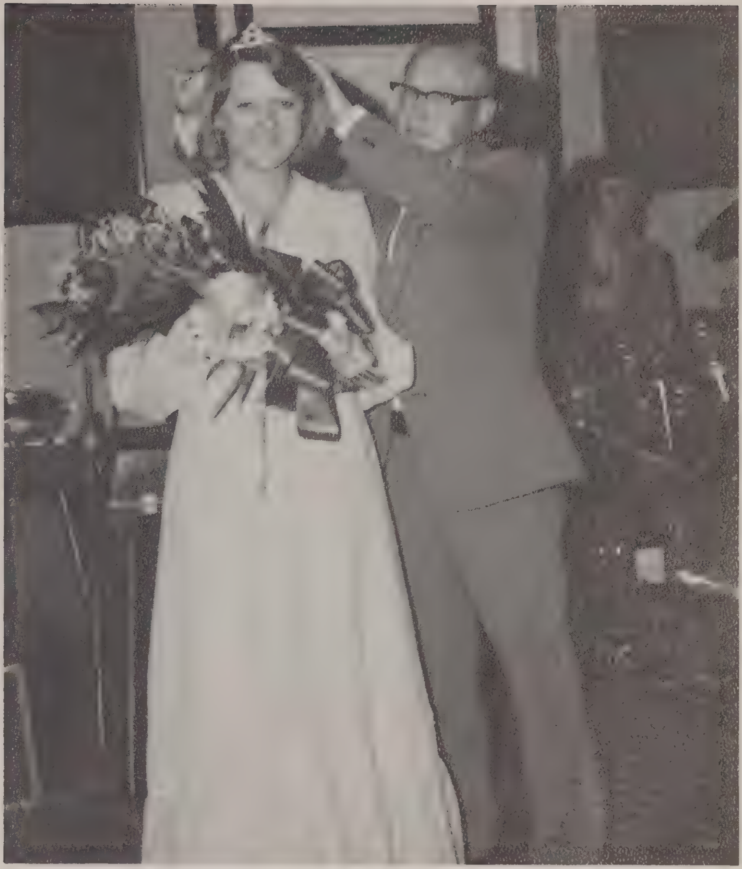
The theme, "Dream On" sets the mood for couples at the Prom.

Jrs. And Srs. "Dream On" At The Prom

"Chinese Bandits" provided music which everyone enjoyed.

Everyone anxiously awaits the banquet.

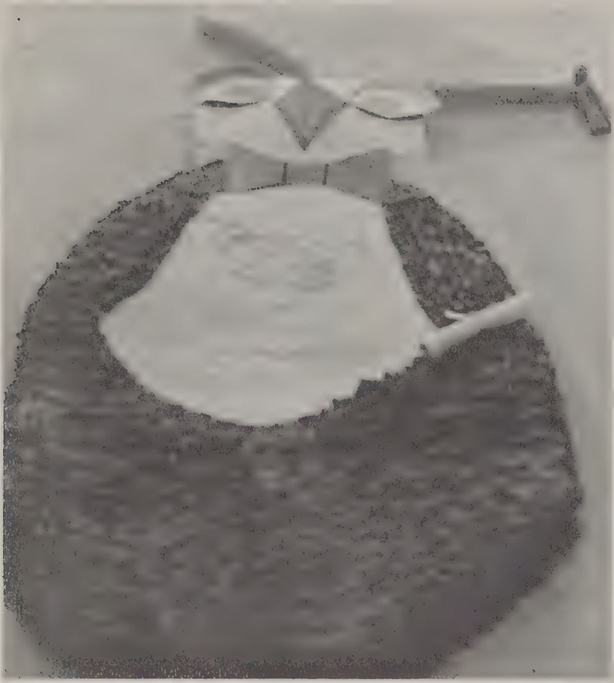
Many couples enjoy dancing at the McHenry House.



Sharon Broadwater's smile shines out as she is crowned Prom Queen, 1976, by Mr. Bittinger.

As the queen and her escort Wayne Miller dance, the court and their escorts look on.

"Dream On" is the theme of the 1976 Jr.-Sr. Banquet-Prom. The Junior class chooses Sharon Broadwater to reign as queen. Kim Bowers, Brenda Brenneman, Tammy Humberson, Donna Ross, Orpha Schrock, Denise Thomas, and Judy Yoder are the other candidates. As we look at the people around us, the faces are familiar, but the attire is so different from the normal dress. Everyone has spent much money for gowns, for flowers, for renting tuxedos and other essentials; but it has been worth it because the 1976 banquet-prom is a night to remember forever.



For enjoyment at the dinner, the Sr. High Home-Ec. girls with the aid of Mrs. Vent, decorate a cake in honor of the Class of '76.

Following the dinner, seniors have a last chance to autograph yearbooks and be with friends.

Senior Dinner Accents Year

Lana Brenneman sits in solitude writing her last farewells to her friends of the past 12 years.

The cafeteria staff honors the Senior class with a buffet style dinner in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Harman gives Lois Bittinger a rosebud and a cup as a memento of the occasion.

The Senior Dinner is a sad but memorable occasion for most seniors. As yearbooks are passed around and signed, memories come rushing back, and many tears are shed for lost youth. Though grieving seniors hide behind false smiles and hysterical giggles, everyone sees through everyone else's facade. Happy and sad memories are tossed around and an air of finality, settles over the festivities. Though it isn't quite the end, the seniors have begun to perform their grand finale.

Seniors enjoy laughter and good times as well as the delicious food.

Members of the class of 1976, looking forward to the big moment when they receive their diplomas, remain standing while the rest of the class files in during the processional.

Graduation—The End And The Beginning

Mr. Bittinger extends his greeting to those present during the graduation exercises.

The sermonette is delivered by the Rev. John W. Lancaster, Pastor of The Grace Brethren Church of Accident.

The Salutatorian, Lisa Robeson, and the Valedictorian, Jeanne Carstens, receive their awards.

The year 1976 is a special one for all Americans, but it is extra special for the '76 graduating class. Among the festivities and celebrations of the Bicentennial year, seniors are singled out and honored for graduating in the 200th year of our country. They are also the 24th graduating class in the 200th year of our country. They are also the 24th graduating class of Northern High School, representing 24 years of progress and achievement.

Mr. Bittinger congratulates this year's winners of the "I Dare You" award, Jeanne Carstens and David Schwing.

The address to the Seniors is given by Mr. Jerome Frampton, Jr., a retired President of the State Board of Education.

Disorder reigns as the cast of "Up the Down Staircase" holds a dance session.

Joe Ferone (Brian Glotfelty) gets caught once again by Principal McHabe (Todd Stockslager).

"Up The Down Staircase"

The class ignores Mr. Bester (Scott Glotfelty) as he makes an announcement.

Miss Barrett (Lisa Robeson) has a heart-to-heart talk with Joe Ferone (Brian Glotfelty).

Scott Bashore engages in a game of cards with Jeanne Carstens.

Scott Bashore represents Death in "Death Knocks" a play given by the Drama Mini-Course.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith (David Schwing and Lana Brenneman) spend a typical evening at home in "The Bald Soprano".

Ms. Rettel's Drama Mini-Course presents "Not Ready for First Period Players, " to the Drama classes and also to the first period English classes.

In "Death Knocks", a satire of death, Jeanne Carstens is confronted by Death itself, and partakes in a winner-takes-all card game in order to prolong her life.

Acting as a typical dull English couple, Lana Brenneman and David Schwing employ their talents in "The Bald Soprano"--Mr. and Mrs. Smith carry on a characteristic, ridiculous conversation.

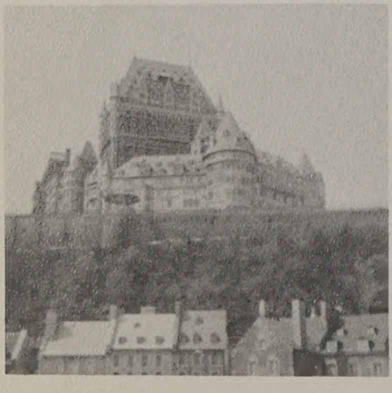
French Students Visit Canada

Thousand Islands, part of the St. Lawrence Seaway, is viewed from the span bridge.

After long months of planning and fund-raising, the French students finally depart for Canada. After one night and a guided tour of Quebec, they depart for Montreal, where they are treated to a shopping spree, a subway ride, and a disco dance at their hotel. Easter Sunday finds them first attending a Catholic mass, entirely in French, and then beginning the 16-hour trek homeward.

The French Students enjoy an eigth floor view from their hotel, Auberge des Gouverneurs.

Chateau Frontenac, a fort in Quebec, stands majestically on a hill.



The group returns by subway from a shopping spree in an underground mall in Montreal.

A giant chocolate easter egg adorns the lobby of the group's hotel in Quebec.

JOYEUSES
PÂQUES

The uncompleted "76" Olympic Stadium in Montreal is included in a guided tour of the city.

The group waits in front of their hotel in Quebec to depart for Montreal.
